

THOUSANDS HOMELESS BY FLAMES IN SALEM

MEASURES FOR RELIEF PROCEED WITH MILITARY PRECISION

Foreigners and Poorer Classes Are Cared for in Tented Colonies—
Relief Committee Provides Shelter for 3,500 and Food for 4,500—
Insurance Adjuster Estimates Loss at $12,000,000.

SALEM, Mass., June 26.—Measures for the relief of the 18,000 persons made homeless in yesterday's conflagration were proceeding with military precision tonight. More than 3,500 were directly dependent upon the relief committee for shelter, while 4,500 waited patiently in the various bread lines for the food which streamed into the city in abundance. Those cared for in the tented colonies were of the poorer classes, mostly foreigners. Nearly all the well-to-do had found refuge with friends and relatives elsewhere.

An insurance adjuster who went carefully over the devastated district tonight estimated the loss at $12,000,000, of which $10,000,000 was covered by insurance. The National Steam Cotton company was the heaviest individual loser. The loss on its great plant was placed at $3,500,000. Fifteen hundred employees were thrown out of work by the destruction of these mills.

The total number added by the fire to the ranks of the unemployed was estimated at 9,000.

Preparations for rebuilding the city are well under way. The unemployed will be given work in the rehabilitation of the city or will be provided with jobs in nearby places.

The active work of relief was temporarily in the hands of the state militia, directed by Adjutant General Cole, who commanded 750 men. The strictest sanitary precautions were taken. A few cases of measles and two of scarlet fever were reported and were immediately isolated.

Three tent colonies were established and the high school and other large buildings were made ready to give shelter to those who did not care to remain under canvas. One of the saddest places in the city was about the quarters of the domestic affairs department of the relief committee. Early in the day the committee had the names of 200 men, women and children who had become separated from their families. Tonight this number had been reduced to 100.

Miss Mabel T. Boardman, national relief secretary of the Red Cross society, arrived today and offered the services of the organization she represents.

The list of dead as a direct result of the fire was placed tonight at four. The identified dead were Mrs. Jennie Cunningham and Samuel P. Withey, a Grand Army veteran. Another body was so badly burned that it could not be identified. The fourth body was that of a child.

COMPLAINT DISCLOSES

JURY FIXERS AND BRIBERS

Six Men Are Indicted in Chicago, Charged With Operating in the Criminal Courts.

Chicago, June 26.—Operations of jury fixers and jury bribers in the criminal courts, disclosed by a complaint of John E. Cummings, a business man recently indicted charged with drugging his stenographer, resulted today in the indictment of six of the alleged conspirators. One of the men indicted is a practicing attorney and one a deputy court clerk. Those indicted were Herman Schmitz, deputy clerk of the criminal court; Lewis E. Dickinson, attorney; Robert E. Malone, Frank McMahon, John Shannon and John McCarthy. Malone and Schmitz were charged with conspiracy to bribe a jury. Malone and the other four were charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice.

Cummings' complaint that the men had offered to guarantee his acquittal on the charge under which he is indicted provided he would supply sufficient funds was augmented today by complaints from numerous lawyers, who cited cases they lost recently in spite of what they termed overwhelming evidence in their favor.

One attorney who had represented a woman recently acquitted of a murder charge declared to Macley Hoyne, state's attorney, that the evidence had been against his client and that in view of the exposures, he believed his client had dealt with jury fixers.

The minute books from Schmitz's court have been seized by Hoyne and he will question jurors who have served on important cases recently.

BELIEVE PETRAS JURY WILL

BE COMPLETED TODAY

Geneva, Ill., June 26.—Eight jurors had been selected to try Anthony Petras, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Theresa Hollander when court adjourned tonight. It is believed a jury will be completed tomorrow.

Upwards of 100 witnesses are to testify, it was announced, although no person saw the crime nor heard an outcry. Petras, his wife said, will prove an alibi.

The state scored a point in the statement by Judge Irwin that "circumstantial evidence, in most instances in a criminal case could be given more credence than an eyewitness."

TO BEGIN ACTIVE CAMPAIGN AGAINST LAWLESSNESS IN BUTTE

Officers of New Independent Order of Miners Still Enrolling Miners—
Moyer Does Not Speak at Anaconda.

Butte, Mont., June 26.—Soon after word was received here today that President Wilson was considering Governor Stewart's request for federal troops in Montana, so as to be prepared for an outbreak here, County Attorney Joseph McCaffrey announced that he would begin a vigorous prosecution of men who caused the riot Tuesday night when one man was killed, others wounded and the building of the miners destroyed.

The city officials have called into service all men on the waiting list of the police force. At the city hall the statement was made that an active campaign against lawlessness in Butte is to be instituted.

The city was quiet today. The officers of the new independent union of the miners today continued enrolling men who have revolted from the Butte local of the Western Federation of Miners. Altogether 1,555 names are on the list of the new union. Men loyal to the old union failed to follow President Charles H. Moyer's instructions to reopen offices of the union here.

At the inquest tomorrow into the death of Edward Noy, the victim of Tuesday night's rioting, each man who enters the court room is to be searched for arms, according to the county attorney.

Despite his previous announcement that he would speak in Anaconda tonight, President Moyer remained at Helena. The mayor of Anaconda had advised Mr. Moyer not to visit Anaconda at this time.

Will Not Act Immediately.
Washington, June 26.—Indications tonight were that President Wilson would not act immediately upon the request of Governor Stewart of Montana today that federal troops be moved from Fort Vancouver to Fort Missoula, so as to have them near at hand in case of further serious trouble among the miners at Butte. The president has not referred the matter to the war department for action and probably will not do so until he considers it absolutely necessary.

LEAD Open Attack

RESOLUTE SCORES HER EIGHTH
VICTORY IN PRELIMINARY RACES

Except for First Three Miles Race Is More Procession, With the Vanitie and Deffiance Trailing.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—The cup class sloop Resolute scored her eighth victory in the preliminary racing series today. The contest was sailed off here in light shifting winds. Except for the first three miles, the race was a procession, with the Herreshoff yacht making the pace. Neither of her rivals, the Vanitie and the Deffiance, seemed able to hold the flag officer's yacht, although both made up much lost time on the last five miles through the freshening of the breeze.

The Resolute's margin in corrected time at the finish over the Vanitie was 5 minutes and 46 seconds, and over the Deffiance 6 minutes and 32 seconds. The Vanitie beat the Deffiance 46 seconds in corrected time.

While the Resolute's supremacy in today's race was not threatened at any stage in the contest except on the first leg, the Vanitie and Deffiance seemed to hold her a trifle better than in previous races.

Most of the yachtsmen who have been following the three boats are anxious for what old seamen call a "breeze of wind," but except for one gust at both ends of Sandy Hook, the yachts have been sailing in light to moderate air, which usually has shifted several times during the contest. Better conditions are looked for week after next when the Newport series begins.

The yachts will race again tomorrow over the course and under the auspices of the Seawanhaka club.

CHARGES OF BLACKMAIL TO BE PRESENTED TO SPECIAL JURY

Special U. S. Grand Jury Will Investigate Charges Against Agents of Certain Labor Unions.

Chicago, June 27.—Charges of blackmail and extortion made against business agents of certain labor unions will be presented to a special United States grand jury by John J. McLaughlin, state representative and president of the McLaughlin Building Material Co.

McLaughlin held two conferences today with Albert L. Hopkins, assistant district attorney, and was prepared, he said, to present evidence to support his charges.

McLaughlin was accompanied by William E. Anderson, superintendent of the firm. Canceled checks, which McLaughlin said he had paid as "toll" to the business agents, and he had cashed the checks and given the currency to the labor agents to whom they were made out.

BODIES ARE RECOVERED.
Washington, June 26.—Recovery of the bodies of Weston Burwell, the American engineer, and Louis Cordoba, his companion, who were shot by Mexicans at Tlahualpa several weeks ago, was reported to the state department today from Tampico.

PICTURES AT WHITE HOUSE.
Washington, June 26.—A new moving picture play was shown on the White House lawn tonight, with President Wilson, his family, and members of the cabinet as the audience.

OPEN ATTACK ON TRADE COMMISSION MEASURE

BORAH OPENS REPUBLICAN ATTACK ON BILL IN SENATE

Senator Particularly Criticizes Provision Which Says That Unfair Competition Is Unlawful—Speaker Declares Legislators, and Not Businessmen of the Country, Should Be Ones to Define "Unfair Competition"—Other News of Official Washington.

FRIDAY IN CONGRESS.

Senate.

Met at noon.
Interstate commerce committee considered a compromise bill to regulate issue of railroad securities.

Adjourned at 6:10 p. m. to noon Saturday.

House.

Met at 11 a. m.
Conference report on the naval bill was adopted.

Debate was resumed on the conference report on the legislative appropriation bill.

Refused to concur in senate amendment to sundry civil bill creating the offices of assistant Secretary of State and assistant Secretary of Treasury.

Agreed to appropriation of $25,000 for creation of legislative reference bureau in Washington.

Adjourned at 6:45 p. m., until 10:30 a. m. Saturday.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—Republican attack on the trade commission bill was opened in the senate tonight by Senator Borah who told his colleagues that passage of the measure would lead not to certainty among business men as to what they might lawfully do, but to another period of uncertainty such as followed the enactment of the Sherman-trust act.

Senator Borah criticized particularly the provision in the bill which says that unfair competition is unlawful. He declared that leading lawyers in the senate were unable to agree on what that term means and insisted it was unjust to ask the business of the country to determine a matter where the national legislators had failed.

"You are putting business in a strait jacket," said Senator Borah. "You should define what shall constitute unfair competition. The Sherman law bids business to be competitive and lays down the rule that competition is the life of trade. This bill provides that there shall be no unfair competition. When we say competition is the life of trade and competition is the life of public and business welfare, and on the other side we say that it shall not be unfair, it is certainly due to the business of the country that we lay down rules for competition and say what unfair competition shall be."

Senator Lewis said that if such definitions were put in the bill practices not named could be indulged in which would not be unlawful because not specifically mentioned.

Senator Williams speaking on industrial legislation, said:

"We Democrats meant what we said and we are going to stay here and prove to the country we meant what we said when we promised to take the three great monsters that threaten economic competition by the throat. We did not act like fools in the tariff matter, we did not act like fools in the currency matter and we are not going to act like fools in this matter. We are going to be conservatively constructive. We have legislated to prevent exploitation through tariff taxation and to prevent exploitation through the money trust, now we are about to legislate to prevent exploitation by the industrial trusts."

The senator put President Wilson's speech of yesterday to the Virginia editors in the Congressional Record.

"One reason we are going to do this," he said, "is because we have a brave and worthy captain who knows how to do things and who knows how to influence other people to help him to do things."

Another stumbling block in the path of early passage of the appropriation bills appeared today when Senator Borah announced that he expected to conduct a fight against the river and harbor bill, the so-called "pork barrel" measure. The bill as reported to the senate carries about $53,000,000, an increase over the house bill of about $10,000,000.

Senator Burton, another Republican, already has criticized the measure in a minority report and it was understood tonight that other Republican senators may join these two.

Although Senator Simmons, in charge of the bill, probably will be played to muster more than enough votes to put the measure through, a determined handful of opponents can give trouble and cause delay.

ST. LOUIS BUYS PLAYERS.
St. Louis, June 26.—The purchase of infielder Jimmy Stanley and outfielder Austin Wadell from the Chicago Federal league club was announced here tonight by Mordcaid Brown, manager of the local Federal league team. The absence of Margoss from the St. Louis line-up is said to have made the acquisition of the new players necessary.

CLOUD BURST FLOODS NORTH DAKOTA TOWN

Principal Business Street of Mandan is Waist Deep in Water—The Weather Elsewhere.

Mandan, N. D., June 26.—Mandan, located on the bed of what was once the channel of the Missouri river, is flooded tonight, the east end of the principal business street of the city being waist deep in water, the result of a cloudburst in the hills ten miles northwest of the city. The Heart River flowing through the city is up to the top of its banks.

Business men, clerks and shoppers who were in the downtown district when the flood of water rushed down the old river bed, are marooned there and will not be able to reach their homes till the flood recedes.

Creeks in the district are impassable they already having been filled to the tops of their banks.

Basements of business buildings on higher ground are filled with water.

There is no telephonic communication with the rural district and it is feared that tremendous damage has been done to growing crops and that in some sections the farm buildings have been damaged.

Residents of the "flats" on the south side of the city else to the Heart river have abandoned their homes.

Hot Weather Reaches Climax.
St. Louis, June 26.—A week of extremely hot weather reached a climax here this afternoon when the government thermometer registered 101 degrees. This was the temperature on top of a twenty-two story building. The government thermometer at street level reached 108.

Members of the mother's congress of St. Louis today endorsed a movement to allow children of the congested districts to sleep in the public parks during the hot months. They decided to appeal to business men for speedy aid in getting funds with which to buy equipment to carry out the plan.

Flood at Lanesboro, Minn.
Lanesboro, Wis., June 26.—A cloudburst at Lanesboro, Minn. during the night made the village of 1,000 population a lake 6 feet deep. The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway tracks are under three feet of water or 3,000 feet.

Railway service into Lanesboro is abandoned. Rescuers are obliged to go about in boats. No reports of loss of life have been reported.

All Heat Records Broken.
Springfield, Ill., June 26.—All heat records for this time of the year were broken today when the government thermometer at 1:30 p. m. recorded 100 degrees. No immediate relief is promised. Crops will suffer greatly until rain comes within the next forty-eight hours.

Twenty-one Prostrations.
St. Louis, June 26.—Twenty-one prostrations, three of them fatal, resulted from the heat here today. The dead are: Jacob Bumiller, 85, and Louis LaFranchi, of St. Louis, and Otto Metz, of Edwardsville, Ills., near here.

Temperature at Decatur.
Decatur, Ills., June 26.—The temperature rose to 102 on the government thermometer today equalling the June heat record here which was equaled last year.

Hail Does Much Damage.
Clinton, Ills., June 26.—Hail stones as large as hickory nuts today broke a number of windows in this city. A miniature cyclone uprooted several trees and blew down telephone wires. Considerable damage was done over a small territory. A half inch of rain fell then turned to hail. Crops were helped more by the rain than they were damaged by the wind.

THINK ROOSEVELT MIGHT BE FORCED TO BE CANDIDATE

Associates of Colonel Roosevelt Urge Him to Run for Governor of New York.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., June 26.—The impression prevailed in Oyster Bay tonight that despite Colonel Roosevelt's repeated statements that he would not run for governor, he might be forced to do so. The colonel went over the whole subject again today with George W. Perkins, head of the national executive committee and when they had finished their talk they were no nearer than before to a solution of the problem. The former president refused to say what he would do should his associates persist in their demands.

John H. Parker, of New Orleans, Louisiana, state chairman, made another visit to Sagamore hill today. He said his party expected to elect three congressmen this fall and had a fighting chance of carrying the state ticket.

Medill McCormick of Chicago and ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana also came to Oyster Bay today to talk of political conditions in their states with Colonel Roosevelt.

COLUMBIA CREW WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

CAPTURES ROWING CHAMPIONSHIP BY SPURT IN FINAL HALF MILE

Pennsylvania Finishes Second With Cornell Dropping Back Into Third Place at the Finish—Victory of Columbia Crew After Twenty Years' Efforts Is Extremely Popular.

REGATTA COURSE, HIGHLAND.
June 26.—Columbia won the intercollegiate rowing championship here today in the final race of four miles. Pennsylvania was second, Cornell third, Syracuse fourth, Washington fifth and Wisconsin sixth.

Columbia won by a length and a half over Pennsylvania. Official time: Columbia, 19:27.45; Pennsylvania, 19:41.13; Cornell, 19:41.13; Syracuse, 19:59.25; Washington, 20:01.35; Wisconsin, 20:20.

Columbia's victory was the result of a desperate and sustained spurt in the final half mile. The Cornell crew, completely exhausted in trying to keep pace with the victors, faltered and slipped back into third place at the finish. Better fortune attended the efforts of the Cornell junior varsity and freshman eights, each combination in turn winning its race in impressive fashion.

The victory of the Columbia crew, after twenty years' effort, was extremely popular and tonight all Poughkeepsie, aided by the Morningstar university students and citizens is celebrating in an uproarious fashion. Not since 1895, when Columbia won the four mile race, defeating Cornell and Pennsylvania in the initial regatta held on the Hudson river course, have the New York City University oarsmen showed the way to the finish line.

Quaker Showing Big Surprise.
The real surprise of the regatta, however, was the remarkable showing of Pennsylvania, for Cornell and Columbia were favorites. While the Quaker eight was named to row a good race, the possibility of the Red and Blue winning was dismissed without discussion.

From the start the Pennsylvanians were a decided factor in the racing, rowing a deliberate but powerful and finished stroke. Throughout the major portion of the contest the Quakers set the pace and refused to be shaken off by the repeated spurts of Columbia and Cornell. It was only in the last quarter mile that Pennsylvania relinquished her lead, and it appeared that this was due more to a lack of fighting spirit than any superiority on the part of the winning eight. Pennsylvania finished more like a machine than a combination of oarsmen, rowing steadily and true, while Columbia and Cornell were fighting like wild men for the lead.

At least 50,000 persons lined the river banks and crowded the steamboats and yachts at the finish, despite the fact that Syracuse, last year's winner, and the western crews, Wisconsin and Washington, were early eliminated by the hot pace.

The start was delayed when a Cornell oarsman jumped his slide in the first few strokes and the six crews had to be recalled and sent away a second time. It was almost 7 o'clock and twilight had settled upon the water before the final start.

Pennsylvania slashed its way into the lead during the first few strokes and was showing the way by half a length over Cornell at the half-mile mark. Columbia and Syracuse were lapped for third place, while Wisconsin and Washington were fighting to keep out of last place. The eastern crews continued to pull away. At the mile, Pennsylvania was in front, Cornell second, Columbia third. When the two mile point was passed the Quakers led by half a length over Cornell, with the Ithaca eight leading by a trifle. Syracuse was fourth, Washington fifth and Wisconsin last falling behind the Pacific coast champions.

Real Struggle for Lead Begins.
Passing under the railroad bridge, after covering three miles, the real struggle for first place began. Columbia had fought her way into second place, one-third of a length behind the Pennsylvania shell prow. Cornell was lapping the New York oarsmen.

Cornell made its last effort at the three and a half mile point, but failing to overhaul either Columbia or Pennsylvania, appeared to slowly lose power and gradually dropped back.

Columbia's crew, having killed off Cornell, went after the leaders. The Quaker shell continued to travel fast and smoothly, but Columbia, with every ounce of energy and smash in its stroke, would not be denied. Little by little it crept up on Pennsylvania and then began to pass. Once out in front, it quickly swept into a full length lead and had a splendid margin of victory after the long, grueling struggle for vantage.

Lengths in the rear Syracuse and Washington were battling just as hard for the right to fourth place, while Wisconsin was hopelessly out of the race, rowing grimly to finish, regardless of time or place. The Washington eight put every bit of power into the drive, but the Syracuse shell had half a length lead for fourth place as they crossed the line. Last came Wisconsin, almost five lengths behind the Seattle oarsmen.

SENTENCED TO HANG.
Chicago, June 26.—William Schultz late today was sentenced to hang for the murder, Feb. 24, of Mrs. Elizabeth Healy, wife of a druggist. The woman was found in the kitchen of her flat with her throat cut.

U. S. GRAND JURY CALLED TO INVESTIGATE AFFAIRS

Preliminary Report Reveals That $850,000 Has Been Loaned to Friends of La Salle Street Bank.

Chicago, June 26.—A special United States grand jury will be called to investigate the affairs of the La Salle Street National bank, the precursor of the La Salle Street Trust & Savings Bank, it was announced today by James H. Wilkerson, United States district attorney.

A preliminary report of government accountants has revealed that between $600,000 and $850,000 was loaned to companies in which officers of the bank were interested, and to political friends.

A loan of $40,000 made to Thos. H. Paynter, former United States Senator from Kentucky, had been reduced by payments, investigation showed, until his present indebtedness to the bank is $2,644, which he says he will pay on demand.

Since the closing of the bank, Federal Judge Landis has ordered that banks receiving bankruptcy funds must give bonds equal to the amount they have for deposit. Formerly a nominal bond was required.

The finance committee of the city council has named a sub-committee to begin an investigation of charges that the city's interest from the La Salle Street bank had been paid with a "split check," the city receiving 2-1-4 per cent interest on deposits and 3-4 of one per cent being paid to some individual. The city's deposit in all former banks was near the limit allowed by law.

Plan to Hold Wealthy Men.
A plan to make wealthy stockholders responsible for losses in the bank was seen in suits begun today against Ira N. Morris, the packer, Wm. J. Mosley and John F. Jelke, wealthy oleomargarine manufacturers, all stockholders of the bank.

The suits were filed by John A. Cervinka, clerk of the probate court and are to collect $175,000 in court fees on deposit in the bank. It was brought under the Illinois law that stockholders are responsible to depositors to the full extent of the par value of their stock.

JAPAN AGAIN PROTESTS
CALIFORNIA ALIEN LAND LAW

Secretary Bryan Will Make Japanese
Note of June 20th and the American Reply Public Within a Few Days.

Washington, June 26.—Japan's protests against the California alien land law was brought conspicuously before the public again by publication of the correspondence between the Washington and Tokyo governments with absorbing interest here today in official and diplomatic circles.

Secretary Bryan said the Japanese note of June 20th last which reopened the subject after nearly a year had elapsed since a formal communication had come from Tokyo, would be made public with the American reply within a few days. In the meantime, he would not talk about the contents of the exchanges.

It is known, however, that Japan abandoning the idea of negotiating a new treaty to guarantee property rights to its subjects, now has asked for a reply to its note of August 26th, last in which the United States was pressed to stop the obnoxious discrimination resulting from the California legislation. One phase of the negotiations disclosed in the correspondence which attracted particular interest in official circles was said to suggest the possibility of an issue entirely new in the history of the United States. In Italy in connection with the promises by the Japanese government to transfer land ownership to Americans appeared the words, "reserving for the future, however, the right of maintaining the condition of reciprocity with the United States."

Fatina has the petition of at least one candidate for nomination for representative from Chicago. He would not state who the candidate was or whether he represented more than one aspirant. July 11th is the first day for filing petitions with the secretary of state and with the county clerks. The last day is July 31st.

BELIEVE CARRANZA WILL ACCEPT OFFER

REPRESENTATIVES CONFIDENT HE WILL ACCEPT INVITATION

Matter Still Remains an Open Question Despite Fact That Constitutionalist Agents Have Telegraphed Their Commander at Monterey For a Definite Answer.

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Representatives of the Mexican constitutionalists in Washington expressed confident hopes tonight that General Carranza would accept the invitation of the South American mediators to participate in informal conferences to compose the internal affairs of Mexico.

Whether Gen. Carranza would accept the invitation, however, still remained an open question, despite the fact that some of his agents here had telegraphed him at Monterey for a definite answer. The message was sent after the arrival in Washington of Gen. Carranza's private secretary, Mr. Alfredo Breceda, who brought personal information from the revolutionary leader to his Washington agents, Rafael Zubaran and Luis Cabrera.

Mr. Zubaran said he believed Carranza would authorize the participation, but that in the meantime, the military campaign of the revolutionists would proceed. Mr. Cabrera declared he was almost certain the informal conference would take place.

Mr. Breceda brought to Washington the positive information that it is the purpose of the constitutionalists to continue their military campaign, regardless of peace conferences. San Luis Potosi, it was stated, would be the next objective point. After San Luis Potosi, the rebels expect Huerta's troops to make their last stand at Querataro. They expect Villa and his subordinates to be on the verge of entering Mexico City within less than a month.

Some constitutionalist leaders are known to take the view that it would better to have a provisional government established in Mexico to supervise an election than to permit a military force flushed with the fruits of a great conquest, supervise the work of a dictator's regime.

Mr. Breceda tonight sent several messages to Carranza asking for definite instructions regarding the renewal of informal mediation negotiations. An answer, it was said, might not be received before Monday morning.

Mediators Getting Anxious.
Niagara Falls, June 26.—After a day of waiting with no word of the plans of the constitutionalists with reference to the proposed informal conference with the Huerta delegates over Mexico's internal affairs, the mediation colony is showing signs of anxiety.

Few are certain the constitutionalists will participate. It became apparent that although spokesmen of General Carranza had expressed themselves in favor of the conference, the constitutionalists had had by no means made up his mind on the subject. The constitutionalist victory at Zacatecas, it is recognized may have a psychological influence on the situation. If it produces cohesion in the constitutional ranks and a lust for more military successes, close observers think the constitutionalists will be less disposed to leave the question to diplomatic discussion. That the American government will use its influence for the settlement of the controversy by diplomacy is not doubted here. The program of the constitutionalists may be to capture the governmental power by military strength, but indications are that the United States may withhold its strongest pressure—the promise of recognition—if further bloodshed and loss of life is not averted and terms of peace arranged, especially when the Huerta government is ready and anxious for peace on any honorable terms.

Zacatecas "City of Dead."
Zacatecas, Jun. 25.—Delayed over military wires, there was little life last night in Zacatecas, usually one of the liveliest cities in Mexico. It was a city of the dead. Everywhere dead men and horses had been piled in the gutters to allow traffic on the streets and sidewalks. Today began the burning of those who fell. The bodies of the horses were burned.

During the night frightened civilians who had remained indoors during the four days of attack stole through the streets dodging barefoot centries who paced to and fro menacingly. The city lay in black swine, pall like. Hundreds of wires swung in hopeless tangles from telegraph poles, tripping pedestrians and horses throughout the night.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

The Pleasant Hour Club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. Berkenhead Wednesday afternoon. The house was tastefully decorated with ferns, pinks and white hollyhocks.

After a social hour Miss Bea Phillips read the following original poem as an introduction to a button hole contest:

A Conundrum.
What is it that is nothing,
Yes, nothing but space,
And yet very useful
If in the right place.

Although it is nothing,
Yes, nothing at all,
I'm thinking without it
That something would fall.

Even though it is nothing
Its outline we trace
In silk or in satin
In homespun and lace.

Sometimes it is oval,
Sometimes it is round,
For use and for ornament
It doth abound.

You find it on men,
And on women too;
It is found on a coat,
On a dress or a shoe.

For fear you can't guess it,
We'll just give you one,
And ask you to trace it,
Just trace it to fun.

The one who does best
As to work but not size,
May fully expect
A peach of a prize.

The ladies were then given a piece of cloth to make a button hole which was done with great list and fun. Mrs. Carrie Phillips winning the prize, a glass berry bowl. At roll call all the members responded with short literary selections. Dainty refreshments were served.

GAS TROUBLE AT PLANT SHUTS OFF THE SUPPLY.

Clogging of the hydraulic mains at the Railway and Light Co. plant Friday morning necessitated the shutting off of the city gas supply, and caused inconvenience to numerous patrons of the company. The trouble was remedied at 2 o'clock but on account of air in the city mains it took some time for the flow to become normal. The reserve supply of gas was brought into use but that was not sufficient for the day's demand. The hydraulic mains, which are located just over the retorts, are now in excellent shape and several years may elapse before the city gas supply will have to be again shut off.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

—After the death of John Cowan, aged 65, a street sweeper in Keokuk for many years friends learned he had accumulated $12,000 in stocks and bonds in safety deposit box at a local bank. His only surviving relative is a nephew in the Watertown asylum for the insane.

—The 125th murder in "Little Sicily" in the last three and one-half years took place Wednesday, Frank De Maria, a stool pigeon for the police being the victim. The police admit themselves helpless to apprehend murderers. The stories of the assassinations are so much alike that in most essentials they might be written with a rubber stamp. There have been hundreds of arrests, but no convictions.

—Charles and Al. Ackerman, two Dixon boys, left Dixon to walk to the Pacific coast. Following the desire to make the hike, which possessed them some time ago, the boys, who are about 20 years of age quietly commenced to make preparations for the journey, and Tuesday completed their outfit, preparatory to the start of the long walk. They will take their time in making the journey and will write for the Boy Scouts' magazine while enroute.

—Max Erxleben, a guard at the Joliet state prison, admitted that he is the author of one of the "best sellers" and that he has contributed several stories to magazines under the name of Larry Evans. He educated himself while working as an attendant at the Illinois state hospital for the insane. With money derived from his contributions he says he expects to buy a villa in Switzerland.

—The sons of Fred Pfister have contracted to purchase the 80 acre farm and residence from Miss Elizabeth Rocke in section 29, of Roanoke township, at $325 per acre, making the total transaction $26,000.

—Joseph McConnell, aged 65 an inmate of the Pythian home at Decatur, committed suicide at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon by cutting his throat. He was on one of the drive-ways in the rear of the Macon county hospital at the time he died from loss of blood when he was found.

—One thousand dollars was recovered from the safe of the wrecked steamboat Maestri, which sunk off the Chain of Rocks, near St. Louis, Saturday morning. A hole was cut through the roof of the office of the boat and opened the safe. The money was taken to a St. Louis bank. D. W. Wisner, president of the Wisner line of steamers, said it had been erroneously stated that $5,000 was in the safe.

—Joseph Garver, aged 50, of Decatur, driver for the National Grocer company, was struck and instantly killed by Wabash switch engine No. 507 at the Morgan street crossing Wednesday morning. He was hurled from his high seat on the wagon and dragged under the engine pilot for nearly 50 feet to the west of the crossing. His head was crushed and his body mutilated. One of the big, iron grey horses drawing the wagon was also killed, his back being broken by the blow.

—Arthur Booher has been taken into custody by the Centralia police. He is 22 years of age and is wanted at St. Paul, Minn., for desertion from the army. He deserted from Ft. Snelling, near St. Paul. He had been a deserter since May 2. He enlisted on the 23rd of last December. He gave as his reason for desertion that he was unable to get along with his officer and for that reason he left.

PROGRESSIVES WILL NAME COUNTY TICKET.

That the Progressive Party of Morgan county will put in the field this fall a full ticket was the conclusion reached at a mass meeting held in the court house Friday afternoon. Speeches were made by Progressives from Springfield as well as by several of the local men. It is understood that the candidate for the lower house of the state legislature will be a man from this county and that the state senator will be a Sangamon county man. Although no announcements have as yet been made, a slate is soon to be made up and there will be a fight all along the line for Progressive victory in November.

The meeting Friday was attended by a representative number of the local Progressives and proved a profitable session. Thomas Stevenson, the county chairman, presided.

MR. AND MRS. J. A. CRUM OBSERVE SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Large Number of Relatives Present at Celebration—Receive Many Presents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Crum celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Friday at their home, 234 West North street, with fifty relatives in attendance. The home was very prettily decorated for the occasion with streamers, cut flowers, ferns and evergreen and in the dining room a color scheme of green and white was carried out.

At noon an elaborate five-course dinner, including innumerable good things to eat, was served, two tables being arranged in the dining room so that twenty could be served at one time. When the guests gathered at the tables they sang, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." Mrs. Crum was assisted in preparing the dinner by Mrs. W. H. Crum and Mrs. E. E. Henderson and those who waited on the tables were Miss Anabel Crum, Miss Wilma Crum, Mrs. Elmer Henderson and Miss Mildred Crum. After the dinner a very delightful social time was enjoyed and Mr. and Mrs. Crum were the recipients of many hearty congratulations and best wishes. They received a large number of beautiful and useful presents which included a set of solid silver spoons from Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Henderson, E. J. Henderson and family; a silver spoon from Elizabeth C. Martin; a spoon from Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dillard of Charleston, Mrs. Dillard being a niece of Mrs. Crum; a set of silver spoons from H. H. Stevenson and family; a silver berry spoon from Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Crum of Denver, Colo.; a silver spoon from Mrs. Sarah E. Knight of Charleston, a sister of Mrs. Crum; a silver meat fork from Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Herron of Bowen, Ill.; a silver pickle fork from Mr. and Mrs. William Herron of La Prairie, cousins of Mr. and Mrs. Crum; a silver berry spoon from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchins of Chicago, nephew and niece of Mrs. Crum; a silver spoon from Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willard of Bowen, one from A. J. Coons of Virginia, a silver cream ladle from Mr. and Mrs. John Rist of Bowen, Ill.; a box of cigars from the Franks Cigar company and an Axminster parlor rug from Mr. Crum's brothers and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crum.

J. A. Crum and his wife, who was Miss Edna A. Sylvester, were married at St. Joseph, Mo., June 26, 1889 by Rev. M. M. Good, pastor of the Christian church at that place at the time. They resided in this city for a time until the world's fair at St. Louis and about a year after the close of that exposition returned to Jacksonville where they have since made their home. Mr. and Mrs. Crum have a wide circle of friends both in this city and in Liberia, where they formerly lived, and the well wishes they received on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary were legion.

Among those present at the celebration were: Mr. and Mrs. Henry Willard and Mrs. and Mrs. John Rist of Bowen; J. W. Crum and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Crum, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Crum, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Litter, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crum and daughter Elizabeth, all of Liberia; Mrs. William Jordan of Chandlerville; Mr. and Mrs. C. P. WILL NOT NOW ANNOUNCE PLANS WITH NEW HAVEN

Washington, June 26.—Attorney General McReynolds' determination not to announce at present his purpose as to possible criminal prosecutions in connection with the affairs of the New Haven railroad system was emphasized in a letter read before the senate today by Senator Norris.

The letter, written by Mr. McReynolds, criticized statements made on the floor of the senate by Senator Norris as to the department's attitude toward the interstate commerce commission's investigation of the New Haven.

Senator Norris had declared in discussing the matter:

"The attorney general did not have in contemplation any criminal action and nobody has been given immunity in that case," and had referred to a "statement from the attorney general's office to the effect that there never was in contemplation any criminal action; that there was no violation of any federal statute in all the proceedings that were had in the New Haven affair."

The attorney general's letter said: "The language which you unfortunately employed is out of harmony with the real facts, and if accepted as accurate would cast a false light about the situation."

"The assertion that the attorney general did not have in contemplation any criminal action and nobody has been given immunity in that case," was unwarranted and misleading. Speaking in your presence, I had expressly declined to declare my plans or purposes, and this has been my uninterrupted attitude. It was, therefore, impossible for you to know what they were, and yet you undertook to make announcement in respect of them. As is well known, Mellen, a conspicuous figure, was then and is now under indictment in the federal court because of certain transactions connected with New Haven affairs. How far his testimony before the interstate commerce commission gave immunity need not be discussed here."

How I Produced 12 Pounds of Beef From One Bushel of Corn.

I bought 44 cattle through Milton Marshall & Co., St. Louis, of Henry Wright, they averaged 361 pounds, March 19, 1914 in St. Louis. I put them in dry lots March 27th, fed them all they would clean up in 20 minutes, crushed corn, cob and all then cooked in the 50 bushel size Wood's Grain Softener.

I put them on grass May 25th, they averaged 1200 lbs. when put on grass. While in dry lot I gave each steer 5 lbs. clover hay. After they ate their grain, I kept out straw before them all the time, but they would not eat over one bale of straw per day. I fed at 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., at regular hours.

I measured the grain fed with a No. 8 scoop, feeding 50 scoops at each feed or 100 scoops per day, all they would clean up. I put in 20 bushels ground corn and all into a 50 bushel vat. This will fill it making 50 bushels feed, which makes 4 feeds, all they will clean up. I drew 50 gallons of syrup off and added 50 gallons of water, then added 1 1-2 bushels of ground oats and shorts, with which I am feeding 80 pigs that are doing well.

I will feed the cattle about 30 days longer and would be glad to have any one interested come and see them.

FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF CIVIL WAR BLOODY BATTLE

Engagement of Kenesaw Mountain One of Most Disastrous to Union Army in Atlanta Campaign

Fifty years ago today occurred the battle of Kenesaw Mountain, one of the bloodiest and most disastrous to the Union army during the Atlanta campaign. Precisely at 9 o'clock on the morning of June 27, 1864, following the boom of the signal gun, 100,000 men in blue moved almost as if on review against the impregnable fortress known as Kenesaw Mountain, whose crest and rock-ribbed slopes bristled with the guns of an army in gray whose number nearly equaled the blue host in the valley below. The signal gun was followed by the crash and roar of our 250 pieces of artillery, which was immediately answered by the gray artillery on the cannon-crowned crest of old Kenesaw, grim, majestic monarch of the Georgia plains.

While all this frightful artillery duel was going on, long lines of blue and glistening steel were moving toward the steel-clad barrier, thousands of whom never returned. When the two mighty hosts grappled in that awful contest the unknown country rapidly received many new inhabitants. More than 3,000 loyal lives went out on that gory field in less than thirty minutes. It was an occasion where American valor showed up supreme under different banners, and where for the first time during the great Atlanta campaign the Union army had met defeat.

Today the chief executive of Illinois and his staff and a few—very few—of those who participated in that gory contest are there to dedicate a monument to the memory of the Illinois soldiers who fought and fell and with their blood crimsoned the rocky sides of that historic mountain. What Governor Dunne and others may say there today may not be long remembered, but what the gallant sons of Illinois did there fifty years ago today is inscribed in letters of living light high on the scroll of fame and their memories are enshrined in the hearts of those between whose homes they stood when the red tempest waged its wide desolation.

"Nor shall their memory be forgot While Fame her record keeps, Or honor points the hallowed spot Where valor proudly sleeps." J. M. Swales.

MARRIAGE ANNULLED.

June 4th, 1913, Willis T. Hopper of Sinclair and Elizabeth Peak of Scott county were married and almost at once the young woman developed unmistakable signs of insanity. She was sent to Maplewood and later taken to the home of her parents and as she gave little signs of improvement it was deemed best to have the marriage annulled. W. T. Wilson appeared for the plaintiff and George L. Merrill was appointed by the court to protect the interests of the lady.

The suit was entirely friendly as the parents, her brother and sister, all testified that while they were not certain of the unsound state of her mind at the time of the marriage they were sure she was that way or very soon after. A very careful hearing was given the case by the court and at the end, the petition was granted and the marriage declared null and void.

After the woman's conviction her husband obtained a divorce.

BEWARE OF MOTHS.

A veteran clothing dealer says it is in order to warn people against moths which are especially prolific this warm, dry weather. Woolen clothing should frequently be aired if not put away in moth proof receptacle and it is wise to have moth balls in plenty all about where woolen or fur goods are kept. A few days will be enough to enable a predatory moth to eat holes in a fine garment and well nigh ruin it and great care should be taken.

No sense in being uncomfortable when Knoles sells summer suits.

The memorial was erected by the Daughters of the American revolution and consists of a mammoth boulder bearing a bronze tablet suitably inscribed. The oration at the unveiling was delivered by John D. Long, former governor of Massachusetts and secretary of the navy under Presidents McKinley and Roosevelt.

WOMAN NEAR CENTURY MARK; TAKES FIRST RIDE IN AUTO

Mrs. Anna Field Farmer Near Patterson Enjoys Event.—Born Year Steam Engine First Used.

Mrs. Anna Jane Field Farmer, who resides one and a half miles from Patterson, Green county, will be eighty-nine years old the twenty-second day of this coming August. She was born in Indiana and came to Illinois with her husband and family in 1863, landing on the tract of land where she still lives.

Her husband, William Farmer, lost his life in the civil war. She remained on the homestead and has always lived a quiet, stay-at-home life. She is a Methodist and has belonged to that denomination for sixty-five years.

Mrs. Farmer in all her life could never be induced to ride in railroad cars or automobiles until recently Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bundy of Roodhouse offered to go to her home and take her to Roodhouse. In company with Mrs. J. M. Beverly also of Roodhouse, they drove to her home. On being asked to join the party she took one look at Mr. Bundy, and after all these many years of waiting she decided that this man was a safe chauffeur so she stepped in without a word of comment. She was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Beverly. A sixteen year old girl could not have enjoyed the ride more than she.

Mrs. Farmer also enjoys the distinction of having been born the year that a steam engine first pulled a train of cars over a railroad track in the United States—yet she has never rode behind one.

CARNEGIE MEDAL HEROES BEING SOUGHT IN CITY

Representative Investigating the Case of Lloyd Vasconcellos Who Rescued Mrs. Mary Smith From Being Run Over by Train—Case of Frank Crisman of Beardstown.

A representative of the Carnegie hero fund is in the city getting information regarding some persons entitled to the benefits offered by the donor.

Among the cases being examined is that of Lloyd Vasconcellos, who saved the life of Mrs. Mary Smith, last Oct. 27. Mrs. Smith lives on Church street and at the time she was crossing the Wabash tracks and in some way became bewildered. An engine was moving toward her and as she noticed how close it was she half faintly. Mr. Vasconcellos who was near ran and pulled her from the track three or four seconds before the train passed that point.

Readers of the Journal will remember another case, that of Frank Crisman, who was rescued in a very brave manner while hunting with his brother in the swamps near Beardstown.

The men were caught in the high water and Mr. Crisman's companion was drowned. Mr. Crisman caught a tree and fired a hundred shots from his gun and finally turned it somehow into a speaking tube and made known his presence in the tree top. For some time no one would risk his life in an attempt to save the unfortunate man until finally a man started out in a boat, reached him and drew him in. He was so cold and exhausted there was great danger of his dying and his brave rescuer dashed water on him and punched him with the oars and kept him from the sleep of death till he was safely on shore. The brave man will doubtless be well remembered. There are some others who are to be sought out and rewarded if deserving. The man rescued was a nephew of E. M. Crisman residing near Morris.

FORMER JACKSONVILLE MAN HEADS SUNDAY SCHOOL BODY

Dr. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., Is Chosen President of International Sunday School Association.

Chicago, Ill., June 26.—A country without opium by 1920, was the prediction made for China in an address by the Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts of Washington, D. C., before the International Sunday School convention here today.

The Rev. Dr. H. M. Hamill of Nashville, Tenn., was chosen president of the association, to succeed the Rev. W. H. Hartshorn of Boston. At the final session of the convention it was voted to meet quadrennially instead of triennially and the 1918 meeting is to be held in New York.

Dr. Hamill was for a number of years a resident of this city and from 1882 to 1884 was superintendent of the city schools. Feeling a call to enter the ministry, he applied for ordination and was accepted by the Illinois Methodist Episcopal church and at once became pastor of the Franklin circuit, which then comprised Franklin, Durbin and Providence, and he is yet held in grateful remembrance by the people to whom he ministered in those localities. The revival services he and his estimable wife conducted and the brave way in which both made their way to the meetings under many obstacles will never be forgotten.

His superior talents in Sunday school work were soon recognized and he was employed by the state association, and spoke and conducted institutes and did important work for a number of years. He attended the various international gatherings, notably the one at Jerusalem, Palestine, and gathered inspiration from a visit to that historic city. He also visited Japan and other distant localities in the great work.

Some ten or twelve years ago he was called to the south to enter the Sunday school work under the auspices of the Methodist Episcopal church south, and has been the head of the work. His fame as a Sunday school man and worker and student of the bible is international, and he has honestly won the honors which have been conferred upon him.

He was popular as a Sunday school worker, preacher and teacher, while in this city and many of his pupils still live here and remember him with great pleasure and speak enthusiastically of his work. His wife was formerly Miss Ada Tuman of this city and her parents went to Ashland, where her father, J. C. Tuman, died not long since. She has a brother, Edward Tuman, of this city.

He was a native of Alabama and though very young, served in the Confederate army during the civil war and was under Lee in the memorable conflict about Petersburg and Richmond and was in the "hell hole" in which so many lost their lives. He is now chaplain general of the Confederate Veterans.

His friends in this city will unite in congratulations over the great honor conferred upon him.

J. MCCANN DAVIS ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY FOR CONGRESS

Will Be Candidate for the Republican Nomination for Congressman at Large.

Chicago, Ill., June 26.—J. McCann Davis, Springfield, clerk of the Illinois supreme court, whose term of office will expire next January, today announced that he would be a candidate on the state ticket for the Republican nomination for congressman at large. In 1908 Mr. Davis made a notable and successful primary campaign for his present office and was elected by a plurality of 165,000 votes. In that county contest he made no campaign in Cook county, where there were two strong candidates, but was nominated almost wholly by the down state votes. As a candidate for congressman at large, however, it is said that he will have substantial support in Cook county, in addition to his down state votes. Thus far no other Republican candidate has been announced for congressman at large.

Charles W. Vail, former clerk of the supreme court of Cook county, following the announcement of Mr. Davis, this evening announced himself a candidate for clerk of the supreme court on the Republican ticket. Mr. Vail, it is said, will have practically the united support of the party in Cook county and thus far has no serious opposition down state.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN PROPERTY VALUED AT $6,000

Chicago, June 25.—Daniel Murphy, known to friends and business associates as a prosperous broker, was arrested in his home today and property valued at more than $6,000, alleged by the police to have been stolen, was recovered.

Most of the articles were tapestries and objects of art. It was only when it was noticed that his visits to the art departments usually were followed by the loss of some especially valuable article that suspicion turned to him.

CONSIDERS CONDITIONS IN ALBANIA ANARCHIAL

American Minister to Greece Sends Report of His Investigations in Albania.

Athens, June 26.—George Fred Williams, American minister to Greece today sent to the newspapers a report of his investigations in Albania in which country he visited recently by authority of the Washington government. In his report Mr. Williams says he saw the Epirote Insurgent Leader Zographos and placed himself at the disposal of international commission of control, which, however, gave him no reply.

Mr. Williams says he considers a practicable wrong to antagonistic and declares the present regime in Albania is practicing owing to antagonistic rivalry. He appeals to the powers to create a neutral state with an essentially local government. The report attributed to Mr. Williams denounces as "a horrible crime" what the powers are doing in Albania it does not even spare the Prince of Weid, asking of him:

"I found a prince, calling himself king with no powers, no territory and no subjects except his wife and children."

Elsewhere in the report Mr. Williams says:

"I uncovered at Durazzo an epochal scandal of anarchy, incompetence, hypocrisy and murder. I took opinions on the London agreement. Everyone agreed from its plain reading that it created no government except one of armed force from abroad for which all the authorities were clamoring."

ACTION AGAINST RAILROADS TO RECOVER LARGE CLAIMS

New York, June 26.—An action against the Chicago, Rock Island Pacific railroad company and the Keokuk and Des Moines railway company to recover claims aggregating more than $5,000,000, was filed in the supreme court today on behalf of Henry I. Clark and company and Sartorius and Einstein, two New York stock brokerage firms which claim to own or represent more than one-fourth of the outstanding preferred stock of the Keokuk and Des Moines.

The action calls for an accounting of rentals due under a lease made in 1878 by the Keokuk and Des Moines of its entire system. The plaintiffs contend that the Keokuk and Des Moines stockholders have been deprived of about $5,000,000 because of mismanagement of the leased line by the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific company.

Why Suffer From Rheumatism?

When relief from rheumatic pains may be had at so small a cost it is surprising that anyone should fail to avail himself of it. Joseph Capparelli, Canastota, N. Y., suffered intensely with pains due to rheumatism in his limbs for a long time. A friend told him about Chamberlain's Liniment. One application relieved him wonderfully, and a few days' treatment effected a cure. Many others have found quick relief by applying this liniment. For sale by all druggists.—adv.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Greatest Event in Woman's Life

All human experience looks back to Motherhood as the wonder of wonders. The patience, the fortitude, the sublime faith during the period of expectancy are second only to the mother love bestowed upon the most helpless but most marvelous creation—a baby.

Women are quick to learn from each other those helpful agencies that aid to comfort, that conserve their nervous energy and yet are perfectly safe to use and among these they recommend "Mother's Friend."

It is entirely an external application designed to lubricate the broad, flat muscles and skin that protect the abdomen. It has been in favorable use for nearly half a century and is known to mothers in almost every settled community in the United States who highly recommend it. You will find it on sale in drug stores. "Mother's Friend" is utterly harmless, contains no deadening drugs and yet its influence in the skin and muscles beneath as also upon the network of nerves beneath the skin is very beneficial, very soothing and a wonderful help. The muscles expand naturally and are not subjected to the unnecessary surface strain and pain during a most trying period.

Get a bottle of "Mother's Friend" today at any drug store and write to us for our instructive little book to mothers. Address: Bradfield Regulator Co., 513 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It should be remembered that what is said of "Mother's Friend" is the thought expressed by the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

Primary petitions for Mr. Blair were put into circulation Thursday. This far no one has announced in opposition to him. Mr. Blair, when originally elected was a resident of Charleston, and his record has been looked upon by Republicans as unusually successful.

—The Springfield Day Nursery, located in the Morgan property just east of the city hall, will open its doors to receive mothers who work during the day next Monday morning at 6:30 o'clock. The home will close at 6 o'clock in the evening. Contrary to the original plans, it has been decided by the board of directors to charge each mother 5 cents for each child left in the home, but this charge will pay for the noon meal and all necessary care.

—The Commercial Club of Franklin has decided not to have a Fourth of July celebration but are planning to hold an "Old Home Week" about the middle of August. If this can be successfully arranged three of four days will be devoted to the festivities, with a change of program each day. The lodges and churches will be expected to help furnish the entertainment and together with ball games and a horse show a well rounded program will be obtained.

—Carelessness in disposing of old bottles and bits of broken glass is responsible for a heavy economic waste in this city. Thousands of mutilated tires can be traced to it. Likewise, it is to blame for numerous farrier and veterinarian bills. Thoughtful persons will not throw old bottles on the streets. Neither will they leave them where they are likely to be so disposed of. Decent consideration for owners of horses and automobiles will impel them to make other disposition of all debris of this character.

—The Burlington railroad July 1, of this year, will inaugurate a new system for taking care of the excess, short and damaged freight, this work having in the past been looked after by the auditor of freight accounts in Chicago. The work of this department as one can well imagine, is enormous and oftentimes gets behind. Offices in the five division points on the C. B. & Q. will be opened on July 1 to take care of the business. The cities which are known as division points are Burlington, Galesburg, St. Louis, Lincoln and Alliance.

—Recent developments in the chinch bug fight in this and surrounding communities indicate that the farmers are decidedly gaining on these pests, says the Waverly Journal. Millions of bugs are being killed daily. While in many wheat fields where the wheat has been cut a few days the fight is practically over, and the victory a decisive one for the farmer. One very important thing is being overlooked by some farmers; the correct preparation and maintenance of the post hole traps. A person who has turned the bugs and who has not made traps in which to catch them is spending his time and money in vain, because the bugs will run up and down the line searching a weak place where they might cross. It is true indeed that many bugs have crossed the lines.

Some were blown over, others having found a poor place in the lines have walked over; but on the whole, where good lines have been made and carefully kept up, the small number of bugs that have crossed will not seriously injure the corn crop. In regard to the second generation which will soon hatch in the corn fields Dr. Forbes says, "The injury done to the corn will be much less than that done by the migrating or present one, not because it is less numerous, but because it is more widely dispersed, and because the corn plant is larger and more thrifty at that season of the year and can suffer a loss of sap which would be fatal to the younger plants." A serious minor effect of chinch bug infestation during the latter part of the season is a consequence of the clustering of the bugs about the base of the stalk of corn where the so-called brace roots are putting forth the growing tissue at this point are then so drained of sap that these roots do not develop and the corn lacking their support falls to the earth in the first heavy wind, and often fails to make a perfect ear. With a sufficient rainfall during July and August added to the excellent fight most of the farmers have made against the bug, everything looks favorable to a good corn crop, and with a heavy rainfall during those months there is a great possibility that the bugs will not be such a serious pest with us next year.

—Mayor Price of Carrollton is using a new method by which to fight the chinch bug, according to the Patriot. The mayor ordered a half mile of rope, laid it along the outer line of his field, stapled to the ground, and oil poured over it makes an admirable barricade with which to turn back the pest. It takes the place of the salt line and does not have to be renewed. The following from the Patriot tells of conditions in the vicinity of Carrollton:

The fight against the chinch bugs since wheat harvest began has been determined and fairly successful. Last Saturday the entire supply of coarse salt in town was exhausted by the demand of farmers who wanted to fortify against the bugs. Since then those who depended on salt barricades have had to adopt the watchful waiting policy, which does not count any more with chinch bugs than with Mexicans.

Wheat threshing began in this vicinity Thursday morning. Ed Lynch, who had seventeen acres in the south suburbs, delivered the first load to the elevator Thursday forenoon, and John O. L. Carmody was a close second. Mr. Lynch had a small piece of less than two acres that made sixty bushels. The local market starts at 70 cents.

John Diesentfelt, out near Daum, had the assistance of two "boys" in his wheat harvest—his father, aged 77, and Joe Smith, aged 72. These two with the help of a 16-year-old boy, shocked seventy-five acres in four days.

Another gentle shower, with perhaps a half inch of rain fall, came early Tuesday morning, and did a lot more good. Such showers at proper intervals will put enough sap into the corn to feed the bugs and make a crop besides. It's the drouth say old farmers, that gives the insects an unfair advantage.

Milk producers around Carrollton, as well as in neighboring counties, are still on a strike. The Union Dairy company, which operates the milk station here, set the summer price of milk at $1.25 per hundred pounds, which Manager Grey says is about twenty per cent above the usual price when conditions are normal. The producers, who are now organized, said scarcity and cost of feed called for more money, which the company refused, and the station has been getting very little milk this month.

New crop spring chickens are selling, direct to the consumer, at 25 cents a pound. A farmer's wife received $1.75 for three chickens the other day.

GIRLISH GOWN OF FLOUNCED BATISTE FOR SLENDER FIGURES.

For the slender, graceful figure such a garment as the gown illustrated cannot fail to attract admiration. It is, however, a garment to be shunned by stout women. The sloped flounces of embroidery that outline a yoke on the hips are set on a plain hemmed skirt. The bodice is cut on kimono lines and has pointed cuffs of the embroidery.

Vital issues in Christian Science. Gift.

Weymouth—New Testament in modern speech. This is the book which Dean Hayden reviewed at the library this spring.

ATHLETICS CAPTURE DOUBLE HEADER

WASHINGTON FORFEITS FIRST;
LOSES SECOND 5 TO 6.

First Contest is Forfeited Over Protest Concerning Pitcher Engle's
Manner of Delivering Ball—Baker's
Bat Wins Second—Other Games.

Philadelphia, June 26.—Both games of today's double header with Washington were victories for Philadelphia, the visitors forfeiting the first in the fourth by 9 to 0 and the second being decided in ten innings by 6 to 5.

Umpire Chitt repeatedly called balls on Pitcher Engle of Washington, thereby sustaining the claim of Captain Thomas of Philadelphia that the twirler was delivering the ball unfairly by having both feet off the rubber when he pitched. Manager Griffith protested and refused to allow his men to play after Chitt pulled his watch and ordered the players to their positions.

Chitt then forfeited the game the score being 2 to 0 in favor of the Athletics with the bases filled and two men out.

In the second contest Baler drove in fire of Philadelphia's runs on two hits over the right field fence, each with a man on first and by a sacrifice fly. The score:

CROSS AND DUFFY MATCHED.
Los Angeles, Calif., June 26.—
Leach Cross and Jimmy Duffy, lightweights, have been matched for a twenty-round contest at Vernon arena, the night of July 25, it was announced today.

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

Many followers of the boxing game in this city are making ready to go to Springfield Monday evening, when the local lightweight boxer, Al Bal-win, will hook up with Pat Walsh over the ten rounds route. The state capital promoters have sent a block of tickets to this city and thus far there has been a fair sale. Baldwin for several months has been coming at a fast clip, and his friends are sanguine as to the result Monday.
Walsh is a tough one and is said to possess the wallop. Baldwin will offset all that Walsh has with his cleverness, science and ring general-ship. The Jacksonville boy in three months has engaged in seven battles, and in every one of them the referee has raised Baldwin's right hand at the finish. After the Springfield match Al is scheduled to meet Ted Oster of Streator, Ill. This go, also is for ten rounds and will take place in the town that developed Billy Myers and Cyclone Johnnie Thompson on July 4th.

Tom McCarey has again flashed into the limelight with a decision which will be reversed by the supreme court controlling Marquis of Queensberry rules. The Los Angeles promoter says he will recognize only Charley White as the legitimate light weight champion. Tom would improve his judicial mind if he would read up on the law governing boxing. That affair between Rick and White at Milwaukee was not one for the championship, because under the Wisconsin law a decision could not be rendered.

Charley Mullin, formerly with the Sox, and for the past two seasons manager of Lincoln in the Western league, has been signed by the Yankees and will report in New York next Wednesday. Charley is a major league first baseman and base runner, but when with Chicago he was quite weak with the stick. His schooling in the bushes has remedied this defect, so that his comeback is quite promising.

If Jack Johnson is in good condition, he has but one line to crab to win today against Frank Moran. Jim Corbett has picked the big spade to

WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

FOLLOWING LONDON'S LEAD STOCKS OPEN AT GENERAL ADVANCE

Gains in Many Standard Issues
Extend to Over a Full Point—
Another Gold Export

FRESH LIQUIDATION CAUSES LOSS

NEW YORK, June 26.—Judging from the relative firmness of today's stock market much of the apprehension produced in various quarters by the Clafin incident seems to have been dispelled. Following London's lead, stocks opened at general advances, the gain in many standard issues extending to over a full point. Much of this was lost before the end of the first hour, when fresh liquidation, due to rumors dealing with Lehigh Valley and the government, caused a loss of about half the advance.

In the later session moderate buying of the leaders at more or less steady gains imparted the best tone of the day, which was maintained to the close, the rise in the most important shares ranging between 1 and 2 points. A factor of some assistance in making for more cheerful sentiment was the announcement that the Owen stock exchange bill had been stricken from the senate calendar and referred back to committee.

There was another gold export engagement of $1,000,000, in spite of a further rise in exchange and forecasts of the weekly cash movement, indicating a loss of $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 bore directly on the situation.

GETTING READY TO HANDLE HAY CROP

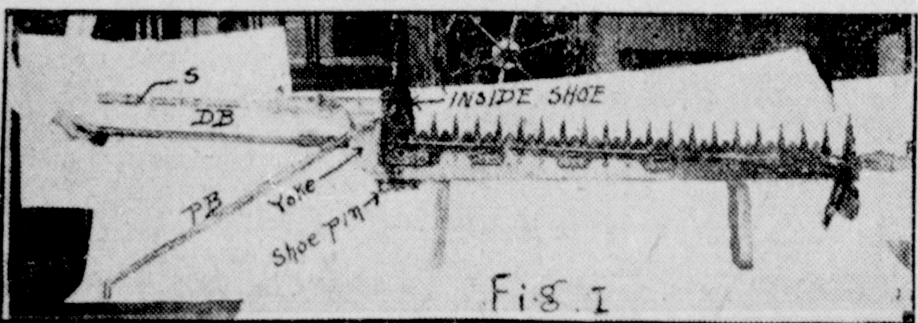

CAUSES AND REMEDIES FOR COMMON MOWER TROUBLES.

Sickle Breaking, Heavy Draft, Side Draft, Undue Wear on Clips and Sickle at Center of Knife Bar, and Other Mower Troubles Are Discussed.

(By C. O. Reed, University of Illinois, in Prairie Farmer.)

In a former article, the causes for uneven stubble and sidedraft in the mower were discussed. The causes and remedies for other common mower troubles follow:

Sickle Breaking.—This break usually occurs at the end or just under the end of the sickle head reinforcement and across a rivet hole. The fact that it is more frequent in light cutting than in heavy hay suggests that the break is not the result of too heavy work, but simply due to some mechanical trouble in the cutter bar. The break is usually caused by the sickle head flopping up and down until the sickle rib or bar is worn in two just as we would break a wire by continually bending it at one place. The flopping is allowed by the worn condition of the wearing plates, clips, and guides in the inside of the cutter bar. When the pitman advances there is a downward force, and due to the looseness at these worn parts, the sickle rib is bent downward. When the sickle recedes the pull upward bends the rib up very slightly. A few hours of this slight bending results in the broken rib. It is folly to try to keep the sickle bar whole until we have found and eliminated the cause for the trouble. Replace worn parts. A new wearing plate in the inside shoe will usually greatly remedy the trouble, but if a very bad condition exists it is very probable that a new sickle head and new front and rear clips and guides must also be supplied. The sickle being out of line, Sickle and pitman can be tested quickly for alignment by means of corn as shown without detaching parts. The cutter bar in the cut is detached simply to aid the photographer.

it is not a common cause for broken sickles, but, of course, non-alignment will greatly increase the wear in the inside shoe parts.

Heavy Draft.—It is hardly necessary to state that poor lubrication and dull sickles will cause heavy draft, and the remedies for these causes are obvious. It is not always understood, however, that a very common cause for excessive draft is that the pitman and sickle are "out of line," that is, they are not working in the same straight line. If the pitman must deliver its power to the sickle angle, we can readily understand that some of that power will be lost and excessive wear will be suffered in those parts affected. To enjoy the lightest draft, then, we must bring the sickle and pitman into the same straight working line as shown in Fig. 1. This is what is known as "aligning the sickle bar." Aligning the sickle bar does not necessarily mean bringing it parallel with the main axle, as agents often tell us. Fig. 1 shows a common method of testing for alignment. Non-alignment is caused by worn or strained parts which allow the cutter bar to drop back. To bring the cutter bar into line again we can only hope to do so by means that will remedy the resulting angle at its apex. Lengthening or shortening the drag bar, DB, or the push bar, PB, will not remedy the condition for the angle between the pitman and sickle remains practically unchanged. We must in some way change the relation of the cutter bar to the yoke to which it is hinged, or change the position of the yoke or the drag bar. Examine your machine carefully to see if one of the inside shoe pins in the hinge has an eccentric bearing which can be turned to throw the outer end of the cutter bar ahead, or if yoke holding the cutter bar can be so changed in its relation to the rest of the frame as to accomplish the same result. Very few of the present types of mowers carry special aligning features and if your particular make of mower is one of these, the best you can do to align the machine will be to supply new shoe or hinge pins, or replace such parts as you find are allowing the trouble by wear or strain. Do not try to align a mower at S in Fig. 1, for it cannot be successfully aligned there and you will simply throw it out of center.

Sidedraft.—Sidedraft is due to poorly cutter bar parts and is not commonly due to the sickle being out of line.

Undue Wear on Clips and Sickle at the Center of Knife Bar.—Caused by knife bar humping or arching up in the center, due to lift spring being too tight.

Clogging at One Point.—Due to a loose or broken sickle section, or to a loose guard at that point. Throw the machine out of gear and locate the trouble by hand.

Knife Parts Badly Gummed.—Caused by using oil on knife parts where there is an abundance of grass juice. Grass juice and oil make an excellent gum and increase draft. Do not oil those parts of the sickle which are kept moist by the juices. It is better to run the bar dry, but care must be taken to keep the sickle head well oiled at all times.

If one or two small parts of the mower are badly worn, supply these parts new instead of consigning the whole machine to the junk pile. For instance, if the bevel pinion on the crank shaft is about to give out, buy a new one at the cost of 50 cents and take a little time to put in new place. The main frame and wheels are good for ten years yet. It is poor policy to hand out $43 every four or five years when the few repairs necessary to double the length of life of the mower, together with the time to put them on, will cost but a fraction of this too frequent investment in new implements.

STATE GEOLOGIST WRITES FROM NORTH GREENLAND

W. Elmer Ekblaw Sends Letter From the Crockerland Expedition in Far North.

The following abstract of a letter from the Crockerland expedition should be interesting to the people of Illinois during these warm days. Sent by W. Elmer Ekblaw, of the University of Illinois, who is with the party as geologist:

Etah, North Greenland, Dec. 30, 13

Dear Friends:

Our Arctic Weihnachtsfeite is all over now and I am starting out alone today with Koodlooktoo, one of Perry's most trustworthy Eskimo, on a 250 mile sledge journey down the coast to Cape Melville, where Koodlooktoo has found another meteorite which I am to examine. Our journey takes us over sea ice, land glaciers and the ice cap, through the haunts of caribou and polar bear, and nearly every village of the Smith Sound Eskimo, across about two and one half degrees latitude. Already I have been out on two rather ex-

FARM NOTES.

Feed for Yearling Bulls on Pasture.

Two yearling bulls that have been on full feed for several months. They seem to feel fine and look well, but they only gain about a pound a day. We have fed them all the rolled oats they would clean up twice a day and as much alfalfa hay as they would eat. For the past month they have been on timothy pasture through the day and are stalled at night. They are not very fat, but just in good fair beef condition. Why do they not grow faster?—A. O., Cuprum, Idaho.

The ration is well calculated to grow these bulls. However, there is too little variety in it to get them to eat enough to grow and to put on flesh at the same time. If corn could be secured, I would advise feeding some cornmeal with the oats, half and half, if the bulls are on good pasture. If one cannot secure the corn use ground barley half and half with the oats. It would also be of advantage to feed a limited amount of ground linseed cake or oilmeal.

Management of a Calf for Quick Growth.

A cow will freshen on July 24. I want the calf to be at its best at three months old. This cow is a fair milking grade, the bull a Shorthorn. How much milk ought a calf have? Can it eat grain to amount to anything before it is three months old? Will it injure the calf for a cow to suckle another until six weeks before calving?—O. B., Brandon, Miss.

If the grade Shorthorn cow is an average milker she should supply all of the milk the calf should take up to three months of age. From four six or seven months the calf might take a part or all of the milk from another nurse cow. Keep the calf in a cool, well ventilated stall rather than permit it to run with the cow on pasture. By the time the calf is a month old it will begin to eat a little grain. A little shelled corn and whole oats are good to get it started to eat grain. Later this mixture could be changed to equal parts of corn, oats, and bran, with a 10 per cent addition of oilmeal. A little choice alfalfa or clover hay will be relished. If this calf is to do its best the cow should be dried off two months before calving.—Robert W. Mumford, U. of I. (In Breeder's Gazette.)

The Rural School Teacher (By H. De W. De Groat, in Cornell University Circular.)

Until the last few years the rural school has not received the help and the encouragement due it. Indeed, it is only recently that we have awakened to the fact that, in spite of added modern comforts and conveniences, there is really only one thing that will keep the boy on the farm and that thing is the right kind of school—which is only another way of saying the right kind of teacher. As a matter of fact, most of our rural schools have been most decidedly unfitted, and have acted as a bar to farm life and have driven them away from it. The boy who at twelve years has not a real love for the country and for country life, on entering the village school may be counted as forever lost to the farm. The things that he admires and the future to which he aspires are to be found only in large centers of population.

The rural school teacher should be a trained teacher, possessed of the qualifications of the best teachers of elementary schools, for there is no reason in the world why the country boy or girl is not entitled to just as good teaching as the village or city boy or girl. Not only should the rural teacher be trained, and not only should she possess all the qualifications of a first class teacher, but there are other essentials that are imperative if the rural school is to fulfill its proper function.

Cattle Feeders Meet at the Nebraska Station.

Close to five hundred cattle feeders, representing every section of the state of Nebraska, attended the second annual beef producers' meeting at the Nebraska state university farm May 22.

The experimental cattle fed during the past winter were discussed by Professor Bliss.

The eight lots of cattle were fed on the following rations: Lot 1, corn and alfalfa; lot 2, corn, alfalfa and straw; lot 3, corn, alfalfa and a light feed of silage; lot 4, corn, alfalfa and a medium feed of silage; lot 5, corn, alfalfa and a heavy feed of silage; lot 6, corn, alfalfa and a heavy feed of silage at the beginning formed," became an Eskimo, and now joined our party as one of us, regularly, to serve as guide, interpreter, and assistant. We and they are all engaged in preparing for the imminent dash to Crockerland. Even the children are helping. There has been no time for leisure since we landed. The Arctic night does not seem at all awful; in fact, I've never felt such elation, such joy in life (and I've never found this good old earth of ours a vale of tears) as when I've been speeding along, as the sledge runners singing an eerie song on the glare ice, and my path lighted by the bright steel cold moonlight. It is the glad, free life, and the zest that comes from doing things worth while, and from facing the elemental problems we must continually solve here, makes me realize how my pagan Viking ancestors evolved the sturdy Scandinavian sages from their daily lives.

GREAT CHANGE IN CONDITIONS IN SOUTH

COUNTRY RIVALS CITY FOR GOOD WHOLESOME PLEASURE

Girls' Canning Club is One of the Forces Doing Much to Break Southerners From Custom of Each Living for Himself—Aids Social Side of Farm Life.

(By Miss Virginia P. Moore of Tennessee.)

There is being brought about a great change in the conditions in the south. The country is rivaling the city on good, wholesome pleasure, profitable to boys and girls, also attractive to parents and grandparents, where neighborhood folk can spend pleasant days together.

One of the forces doing much to break rural folk from the custom which has been established of each living for himself and for himself so largely, is the girls' canning club. This organization, which has been created in the bosoms of many girls a love for the country and rural life, which was formerly held in disdain by them has also been strong factor in getting together the parents of the community. These clubs have been demonstrating days in their respective communities, when men and women from miles around attend. They are not only featured by the canning of tomatoes, beans, peas and other garden and orchard products,

And is the time wasted? No! For can not families assemble their products at a convenient spot, and there the girls and women, too, can put in one day all that it would require many days to can and preserve as separate workers. And besides there is the big picnic dinner the older can spread while the younger ones are cooking and canning. And in the afternoon the games are put on. Thus we have a social side of farm life even in the canning clubs, which can be worked out in every community.

Then, too, the school is fast becoming the community center. Mothers' associations and the school improvement leagues in which fathers participate, are developing the educational life of rural communities, and bringing the inhabitants together for mutual benefit and general profit. New interest is being created in all things of an educational nature by these organizations, socials and concerts are conducted and a love for the school is developed. Teachers and parents are brought into communion, and children are inspired to nobler ideals.

As a result what do we have? Look all about us, and see springing up in a day, as it were, high school buildings and grammar school buildings, with agricultural experiment stations, domestic science and household economic departments. All the outgrowth of greater interest developed through the social comingling of the people of the neighborhood. And in these handsome buildings, which are becoming community centers, are enjoyed educational and agricultural leaders who address the farmers and their wives, and these assemblies, which savor of profit un-but in addition field day features have been added, so that amusements of many kinds are afforded those attending. Contests among boys and girls are held, including swimming and sewing, running, racing, tennis, ball games, hurdling, sprinting, etc., all of which interest old and young and make a day one of pleasure.

of the feeding period and light at the close; lot 7, corn, alfalfa, one and a half pounds of cold pressed cottonseed cake, and a medium feed of silage; lot 8, corn, cold pressed cottonseed cake, corn silage, and a small amount of alfalfa during the first part of the feeding period, while making the change from alfalfa to cottonseed cake. Each lot received a small amount of straw in addition, with the exception of lot 2, which received considerable straw.

The silage fed contained very little corn. This was due to the drought last summer, which prevented ears from forming. At the time of filling the silo many of the corn stalks were badly dried or sunburned. Unquestionably, the silage did not have the feeding value that it ordinarily has.

The steers were fed 154 days. In rate of gain, lots 1, 3, 4 and 5 made 2.1 pounds per day; lots 6 and 8, 2.07 pounds per day; lot 7, 2.05 pounds per day; and lot 2, 1.86 pounds per day.

In feed required for 100 pounds of gain, lot 1 came first and lot 3 second.

Figuring corn at 65 cents per bushel, alfalfa at $10 per ton, corn silage at $3.50 per ton, cold pressed cottonseed cake at $26 per ton, and straw at $2 per ton, the cost of producing 100 pounds of gain was $19.72 in lot 1, $11.30 in lot 3, $11.49 in lot 6, $11.73 in lot 5, $11.77 in lot 4, $12.11 in lot 7, $12.23 in lot 2, and $12.86 in lot 8. The addition of cold pressed cottonseed cake to a ration of corn, silage and alfalfa increased the cost of gain and lowered the profit. Alfalfa proved superior to cold pressed cottonseed cake when fed as a protein supplement to a ration of corn and corn silage, both as regards cost of gains and as regards rate of gains.

This experiment corroborates previous work at the station, showing the value of alfalfa when fed to fattening steers which are receiving a heavy feed of corn.

TEND TO RAISE LOAN RATES FOR COMMUNITY

HIGHER THE RATES THE GREATER THE DIFFICULTY FOR BORROWERS.

Presence of Those Lacking in Responsibility in Their Dealings With Banks Tends to Raise Loan Rates For the Entire Community.

(By Charles L. Stewart, Department of Economics, University of Illinois.)

In the article last week, we described the possibility and the probable results if farmers should agree to form a combination restraint of production.

While a conscious conspiracy such as we described is impossible similar consequences undesirable to the public are promoted unwittingly by those farmers who are unsound in agricultural method or in business integrity. Ignorance of method or necessity to maintain soil productivity at its maximum produces a virtual combination for restraining production. The presence of those lacking in responsibility in their dealings with banks tends to raise the loan rates for the whole community. The higher the loan rates the greater the difficulty facing those who must borrow in order to be able to invest in the things which go with sound farming practice. These handicaps to sound farming, through their repressive influence on production, tend somewhat to promote the profits of farming. High profits, from whatever cause, will result in higher rents in the long run and thus encourage an increase in the amount of renting. Higher rents usually increase the disregard shown by the tenant for the soil. The larger the proportion of the farm land that is under tenant cultivation the greater is the repressive effect upon the total production of the country. Since soil exhaustion tends somewhat to enhance profits and thus to increase tenant farming, it appears that robbing the soil has some tendency to promote itself, or at least to postpone its own extinction. With the growth of relative demand for farm produce this tendency probably increases.

There is another tendency which bids fair to outweigh the one just described. Whether operating his land or not, it is to the interest of every owner, who is not a member of a successful combination to restrain production, to have the maximum raised on his land. This maximum will be secured in a different way according as the association of the owner with the land is for a long or for a short period. A short period of association makes for quick exhaustion of the fertility of the soil; a longer period of association compels a more permanent farming policy. High land prices are becoming more and more conducive to longer association of owners with the land. An increase of ten dollars per acre in one year in the value of one hundred dollar land gives the owner a ten per cent return from that source alone. In the case of two hundred dollar land, an increase in value of ten dollars in one year gives only five per cent. The higher the price of land the longer the owner must wait in order to get a given rate of increase from the rise in price. Profits from cultivation must be nearly twice as great in the case of two hundred dollar land as in the case of one hundred dollar land. Thus the annual income of the owner, including the rise in value, comes to be due in greater measure to the rise in land prices. So our present high land prices are forcing owners to a longer association with the farms they own, and are compelling them to emphasize profits from cultivation rather than gains from the increase in value. Since the profits of operation are, in the last analysis, the basis of the valuation of the land, particularly the value of the land to the owner who can make it pay those profits, this attention to gains from operation will come to be repaid both by its increasing the profits from crops and by its raising the price of land. This tendency is a strong one, placing an increasing premium on sound farming and a growing penalty on unsound farming. Moreover it acts against bad farming practice regardless of whether the operator is the owner of the land. In spite of the somewhat self stimulating character of soil exhaustion, this tendency must rapidly ride it down. Since soil exhaustion on the part of some tend to raise prices for all producers whose crops are concerned, it tends to increase still more the premium upon productive farming by those who seem to have the maximum produced upon the land with which they are associated. In this respect the relative strength of the general tendency toward sound farming is increased by the price raising influence of whatever soil exhaustion may still survive.

It is almost as unthinkable that farmers should agree generally to reduce their total crop acreages as that they should make mutual contracts to neglect their soil. A certain amount of restraint in farm production may, however, be justified. The public welfare will be best conserved by a good balance between the various branches of agricultural production. A relative under supply of one kind of produce, be it corn, beef or cabbage, tends to raise the prices of those products and to confer a special advantage, if not a special privilege, upon farmers specializing in those lines. Any means,

FARMER-TEACHER IS LEADER IN COMMUNITY

Vermillion County Man is a Leader in Agricultural Affairs as Well as in Educational purposes.

(By Prof. A. W. Nolan, Agricultural Extension, University of Illinois.)

In these days of progress and new things it is not surprising to learn of "something new under the sun," but here is something "old and new"—a commencement exercise under a tent in a farm yard. The writer had the privilege on May 16 of taking part in this unique rural life program.

Mr. M. A. Andrews of Armstrong, Vermillion county, Illinois, is a farmer-teacher—he and his school board believe that a country school teacher should be a permanent citizen of the community, and with this policy, Mr. Andrews is a leader of his community in agricultural and social affairs as well as in educational purposes.

Upon the invitation of Mr. Andrews, four neighboring schools joined in a promotional exercise for their common school graduates. He secured a large tent, and set it up in his spacious shady home grounds for the exercises. The Benjamin brothers of Armstrong established an acetylene light plant for the tent, and the Potomac orchestra furnished the music. The pupils of the schools made candy, cake, pop corn, ice cream and other delicacies, and sold them from an attractive tent on the grounds, to pay expenses for the occasion.

As soon as the sun went down candles, and automobiles began to arrive from all the country side, and when the orchestra began playing the opening march, the tent was crowded with farmer folks, and all the grounds astir with the assembling of the community.

County Superintendent Haworth of Danville presented the diplomas in a brief but excellent address, urging the establishment of township high schools. The audience of farmers cheered every reference made by the speakers to the needs of a high school for their sons and daughters. It is out of such meetings as these, and through the strong leadership of such men as Mr. Andrews and Superintendent Haworth that the township high school and its accompanying power and influence in community building will be wrought out.

And later, on May 22, at Barton, Ill., a combination, strictly agricultural, made up a unique commencement exercise. Here was the combination: Place, the hayloft of a farmer's cattle barn; the graduates, twenty country boys and girls; the speaker, a representative from the college of agriculture; the audience, farmers and their families; the diplomas presented by the county superintendent of schools.

The promotional exercises of several schools in the western part of Embarrass township, Edgar county, were held on the above date at the Catholic school grounds and in the big barn across the road from the school grounds. The barn loft was decorated with green branches and class colors, a piano and Edison phonograph furnished the music, a stage was improvised at one end of the loft and bales of hay were arranged as amphitheatre seats at the sides and back, and the farmer folks were there to add life and color to the scene. Miss Stella Hart and Miss Ruth Twigg were local leaders in all arrangements. County Superintendent Brown presented the diplomas, and the writer gave an address.

A big free for all dinner was served at noon in the school grounds, and an athletic contest between pupils of the county schools was pulled off in the afternoon. At night the barn loft was lighted up, and a gay crowd filled it to the roof to witness the literary contest between several country life clubs of the community. Here we have a refined revival of the old time husking bee and barn raising, where the whole countryside meets in the same spirit of old, but with the new motive of promoting the social and educational progress of modern days.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

therefore, of diversifying the nation's production so as best to fit the demand surely conserves the interest of the consumers and of the different classes of farm producers. Herein lies a great field for agricultural statistics and for those who can put them into such shape and publicity that farmers will be guided by them in regulating the emphasis they shall give to different kinds of farm production.

The point of view just suggested does not justify one in maintaining that farm production should be reduced when taken in the aggregate, but that it should be wisely diversified. It does not operate against the welfare of consumers, as would a deliberate conspiracy and as do ignorant and dishonest farming and business methods. It illustrates what is coming to be more and more recognized, that farming is an industry "affected with public interest." Fortunately farmers themselves are not the least significant elements in that public whose welfare demands the proper distribution of crop acreages, but the most abundant yields sound farming will make possible.

KERNELS FROM CORN BELT (By Sol E. Kozier.)

There is an old saying that "There is a remedy for every ill." It is sometimes years before you find the remedy exactly suited to your case. RIGHT TO ENTER
HOME IS QUESTIONED

Some Doubt as to Qualifications of Applicant, Who Lived at the Home For a While.

Thought to be an impostor, Geo. Keesey, with his wife, was on Monday ejected from the Soldiers Home, at Quincy, under a cloud of suspicion to the effect that he never braved the dangers for his country that one must brave before they are permitted to live at the Home.

Wednesday, from the adjutant general in Washington, word was received by P. J. Henderson of Cottage 6, to the effect that on September 1, 1864, he enrolled in Company K of the 212th Pennsylvania infantry, he entered the Union army and served one year. He also served in the Sixth Pennsylvania artillery, and in Company A of the Fifty-seventh Pennsylvania infantry.

The letter stated that the man had been honorably discharged, it is said.

Now the question in the minds of some is whether this man is really George Keesey. Some think that he was a man named Andrew J. Stewart. He first came to the Home in April, 1912, accredited with the 184th Pennsylvania infantry. He was not a resident of Illinois and therefore had no legal right to reside at the Home here. He went to East St. Louis and resided there for some time, until he was a legal resident of Illinois. Then he returned to the Home, and with his wife resided here for some time. That was in December, 1913. One objection to him was that, according to the claim, he was gifted as a "moocher", and finally he was doubted by officials at the Home. The pension department was communicated with, and replies, it is stated, declared the man an impostor.

At present it is nicely mixed. The letters from the pension department declare him an impostor; other letters declare George Keesey was in the army during the war, and the question is, is the man George Keesey or Andrew Stewart? Did he do wrong, or has he been wronged? Another feature is the fact that the company he was accredited with serving in during the war, and which he admitted when he entered the Home, as stated, is not the same as received in the report today. The numbers are entirely different, as can be seen.

"Reports from the principal trade centers continue irregular but favorable advice outnumber those of opposite character especially in agriculture sections."

"The large drygoods suspension and the disastrous fire in New England were naturally disturbing features late in the week. This month has witnessed an expansion in demand for iron and steel, yet price concessions are still a feature. The transporting companies are still buying in a conservative manner. There was a decrease of seven percent in the gross earnings of railroads reporting for two weeks of June."

"Failures this week were 336 against 26 last year; in Canada 33 against 27."

Bradstreet's Review.

New York, June 26.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Good crops, mixed trade and unsatisfactory industrial conditions sum up the week's report. Good crop reports, with veritable certainty of a record wheat crop, plus evidence of growth in trade both wholesale and retail in most of the west and in parts of the south, strikingly contrast with the very slow pace of industrial operations the country over and dull business in the east."

Be wise and get a comfortable suit of knoles right now.

MORTUARY

Stanton.

Sad news comes to the city of the death of Rev. Benjamin Stanton, of Chicago, who frequently visited in our city, at the home of his wife's mother, Mrs. Eliza Montgomery, 711 South Diamond street.

Mr. Stanton was born in Kent county, England, sixty-one years ago, where he grew to manhood and received his education which was under private tutors and at Cambridge university.

He served as a commissioned officer in Her Majesty's cavalry service in India for nearly five years, after which he came to this country and for a number of years engaged in the practice of law in Denver and Chicago.

He subsequently gave up this profession to enter the ministry, becoming a clergyman of the Congregational denomination and was engaged in this work until three years ago, when his health failed, he having in this time to undergo two serious operations. From the last one he never regained consciousness and death followed shortly.

He was married to Miss Antoinette Montgomery of this city in 1901 who has ever been his devoted wife.

He was a man of sterling character, high scholarly attainments and of recognized literary ability, having contributed to a number of publications.

His brilliant mind and keen intellect were ever employed in doing the work of the Master and he was regarded as a leader for the uplift of humanity.

His many friends in this city will be grieved at the passing away of one whom they so highly esteemed, and sympathize with his wife who is bereft of his love and companionship.

Sandberg.

Mrs. Anna Sandberg of Atlantic, Iowa, passed away at her home Wednesday after an illness of four weeks, according to word received in the city by her daughter, Mrs. Lydia Faugust of East State street. She was 72 years old and was born and reared in Sweden, coming to this country at the age of 37. Her maiden name was Miss Anna Caspersen and her husband, John Sandberg, passed away six years ago. Mrs. Sandberg was the mother of ten children, all residents of Iowa with the exception of Mrs. Faugust.

The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Baptist church of Atlantic. On account of poor health, Mrs. Faugust will not be able to attend.

MAY BE TAKEN NEXT WEEK.

John Henry will probably be taken to Chester penitentiary sometime next week. The law allows twenty days, however, for the court to prepare the history of the case and to receive the signature of the judge.

SALE OF CREAM WAS DISCUSSED AT CONVENTION

Higher Standard of Article Will Be Recognized by Creameries—L. T. Potter Attends Meeting.

L. T. Potter, manager of the Jacksonville Creamery Co., returned Friday from Champaign, where he attended the regular monthly meeting of the Central Illinois Creamerymen's club.

Some definite action as regards the sale of cream was taken up by the members. The results will be of great interest to farmers and dairymen of the state.

Heretofore cream of all kinds has been received on the same basis at the creameries throughout the state. In a short while cream will be graded and paid for according to the quality. The farmers who produce the richest cream will receive more for their product than the ones who are not particular to keep the product of the highest standard. In time this will, of course, be the means of placing a much higher grade of cream upon the market. The movement is supported by the Illinois state food department, the University of Illinois and practically every creamery man of the state. In turn, it will undoubtedly be supported by the producers after the measure is put into operation.

After the regular business meeting the club was royally entertained by the faculty of the University of Illinois and members of the state food department.

SCOTT COUNTY CIRCUIT COURT IS CONVENED

JUDGE NORMAN L. JONES IN HEARING PARTITION SUIT.

Three Parties Sue for Portions of Estate—Case Will Be Completed Before Judge Jones at Winchester Today—Other Winchester Notes.

An interesting suit is being tried before Judge Norman L. Jones in the Scott County Circuit Court at Winchester, in which three different parties are suing for portions of an estate. The testimony in the case was taken Friday and part of the argument of counsel was heard. The remainder of the argument will be completed this morning. Judge Jones will adjourn court either this morning or this afternoon and next week will hold court at Jerseyville. The week of July 6th he will be in Springfield.

The story of the case which is now being heard, follows: In 1863 William G. McLaughlin married Caroline Shibe and in 1884 he absconded. When he left he owned 40 acres of land, on which he and his wife resided, and together the couple owned another 40 acre tract. Two years after her husband disappeared a conservator was appointed for Mrs. McLaughlin and after a time he sued for divorce for his ward, who received a decree and all of her missing husband's interest in the property as alimony.

Mrs. McLaughlin was married later to James Kelley and in 1911 she died, the conservator managing the property for her life. After her death John H. Shibe, et al, filed a suit in partition, claiming the decree of divorce void and the second marriage, therefore, null and void, and asked for the property as the brothers and sisters of the deceased and her only lawful heirs.

Seven months after her death W. G. McLaughlin made a deed conveying all of his interest in the land to his brother, B. T. McLaughlin, who in turn executed a deed conveying one half interest to Frank McDade and Judge James Callans and they answered the Shibe petition, filed a cross bill of partition, claiming the divorce of Caroline McLaughlin null and void and that by deed from W. G. McLaughlin they became owners of 70 acres of the property and that the Shibe heirs are owners of the other 10 acres only.

Another answer was filed in a cross bill by James Kelley, in which he claimed to be the heir of Caroline McLaughlin and to be entitled to one half of the estate in fee simple and dower in the other half. James Kelley then died and his heirs are supporting his claim in the case. The Shibe heirs, the original petitioners, are represented by Attorney McKean of Winchester, the Kelley heirs by Attorney J. M. Riggs of Winchester and B. T. McLaughlin, Frank McDade and Judge James Callans are represented by Judge James Callans and Bellatti, Bellatti and Moriarty of this city.

Funeral of Thomas Coultas.

Funeral services for Thomas B. Coultas were held at the residence of his son, Harry Coultas 6 miles south of Winchester, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. The services were impressively conducted by Rev. D. H. Toomey. Music for the occasion was furnished by Mrs. Carl Neat and Miss Martha Higgins, who sang "Rock of Ages," "O Morning Land" and "Nearer My God to Thee."

Interment was made in Winchester cemetery and the bearers were Jesse Schull, William Harvister, Perry Smothers, Clarence McDonald, Albert Gordon and James R. Crabtree. Among the out of town people here to attend the funeral was Mrs. Clarence Kimbrough of Chatham, a daughter of the deceased.

Visitors From Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolla Borum and baby of Muskogee, Okla., who have been visiting with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert Peak, west of Winchester, have gone to Springfield for a short visit with relatives. They will return to the Peak home for a more extended visit.

Heat Kills Two Horses.

The intense heat of the past several days has been showing on the horses in this vicinity. When Fred Hamilton, rural mail carrier on Route Five, was returning from his route Friday afternoon his horse dropped dead just in front of the residence of P. I. Nelson. The death of the animal was attributed to the heat. Sim Smithson also lost a valuable work horse on account of the heat Thursday.

A horse being driven by David Cowhick, a transfer man, was overcome with the heat Friday and fell, but was revived after a short time.

OILING OF VANDALLA ROAD IS COMPLETED

Oiling of the Vandalla road was completed Friday afternoon by W. H. Cocking & Co., completing a continuous stretch over a mile in length from Michigan avenue on Main street south, and east on the Vandalla road to the C. & A. tracks. Petroleum road oil was used, with 40 per cent asphalt. The oil was applied on both sides of the car track only, leaving the space between the rails untreated.

The contributors to the fund for oiling the Vandalla road included The Jacksonville Railway and Light Co., the South Jacksonville village board, the Chamber of Commerce, the Chautauqua association, the residents of the road and O. F. Butte. Slightly more than a fourth was raised by the residents; the remainder by the various associations. The South Main stretch was also oiled by Mr. Cocking.
